

PLAN

iPlan is a consulting firm with expertise and experience in the design and implementation of business improvement projects, often based on technology platforms such as ERP, Warehousing, Point-of-Sale or Planning & Scheduling systems. The company has offices in Pretoria and Cape Town in South Africa and an office in the USA; and work on assignment at client locations anywhere in the world.

CAPABILITIES

iPlan manage implementation projects where a client organisation pursue world-class business processes based on effective and affordable technology that is practical for use by the people on location.

iPlan personnel include industrial engineers, chartered accountants, information technology solution designers, system configurators and software developers. iPlan assemble temporary project teams from these skills, internal client resources and external subcontractors as and when required.

A typical business change project will see an iPlan Executive working with the client's Executive Team to design the strategy of the change project. iPlan business experts will then design the "To-Be Business Process Blueprint" usually following best practices but also taking into account specific client opportunities and circumstances. iPlan can design an information technology solution and, if applicable, manage the client's software selection process. iPlan have the skills to configure several ERP-systems and iPlan developers can integrate third party systems, modify or develop unique modules, and build bespoke dashboards.

OWNERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

iPlan is 100% owned by Management. iPlan specifically and jealously guards its independence from external parties or vested interests. Because of that, iPlan is often asked by clients to provide advisory services where the complete absence of bias is absolutely critical.

The iPlan Executive Committee consists of seasoned professionals with a strong – and long – reputation in the field. Abré Pienaar is the CEO; Johan du Toit oversees iPlan's projects as Chief Operations Officer; and Altrina Viljoen oversees financials as CFO and also iPlan's human capital and the USA subsidiary.
